Section A - Reading Skills

1. Read the following passage carefully:

[10]

1. Plastic pollution has become one of the most pressing environmental issues, as rapidly increasing production of disposable plastic products overwhelms the world's ability to deal with them. Plastic pollution is most visible in developing Asian and African nations, where garbage collection systems are often inefficient or nonexistent. But the developed world, especially in countries with low recycling rates, also has trouble properly collecting discarded plastics. Plastic trash has become so ubiquitous that it has prompted efforts to write a global treaty negotiated by the United Nations.
2. Plastics made from fossil fuels are just over a century old. Production and development of thousands of new plastic products accelerated after World War II. It transformed the modern age so much that life without plastics is unrecognizable today. Plastics revolutionized medicine with life-saving devices, made space travel possible, lightened cars and jets - saving fuel and pollution - and saved lives with helmets, incubators, and equipment for clean drinking water.
3. The conveniences plastics offer, however, led to a throw-away culture that reveals the material's dark side: today, single-use plastics account for 40 percent of the plastic produced every year. Many of these products, such as plastic bags and food wrappers, have a lifespan of mere minutes to hours, yet they may persist in the environment for hundreds of years.

4. Most of the plastic trash in the oceans, Earth's last sink, flows from land. Trash is also carried to sea by major rivers, which act as conveyor belts, picking up more and more trash as they move downstream. Once at sea, much of the plastic trash remains in coastal waters. But once caught up in ocean currents, it can be transported around the world.
5. Millions of animals are killed by plastics every year, from birds to fish to other marine organisms. Nearly 700 species, including endangered ones, are known to have been affected by plastics. Nearly every species of seabirds eats plastics. Most of the deaths of animals are caused by entanglement or starvation. Seals, whales, turtles, and other animals are strangled by abandoned fishing gear or discarded six-pack rings.
6. The solution is to prevent plastic waste from entering rivers and seas in the first place, many scientists and conservationists - including the National Geographic Society - say. This could be accomplished with improved waste management systems and recycling, better product design that takes into account the short life of disposable packaging, and reduction in manufacturing of unnecessary single-use plastics.

Answer the following questions, based on the above passage: (10)

- i. Which of the following statements best describes the reason why plastic pollution has become one of the most pressing environmental issues? (1)

  - D. The developed world, especially in countries with low recycling rates, has trouble properly collecting plastics.
- ii. What is the tone of the writer in the given lines from paragraph 2? Rationalise your response in about 40 words. It transformed the modern age so much that life without plastics is unrecognizable today. (2)
- iii. The passage includes some words that are opposites of each other. From the sets (A) - (E) below, identify two sets of synonyms. (1)

v. Based on the reading of the passage, examine, in about 40 words, the downside of the convenience that plastic offers. (2)

vi. Complete the sentence appropriately: (1)

According to conservationists, the two ways in which most of the deaths of animals are caused are _____.

vii. Based on the passage, how can we contribute to the reduction of plastic waste?

(1)

- B. by minimizing the use of single-use plastics
- C. by not abandoning fishing gear
- D. by not using helmets made of plastic viii. State one reason why plastic pollution is most visible in developing Asian and African nations. (1)

2. Read the following passage carefully:

[10]

1. Rotation of crops is a universal phenomenon which is practised by most of the farmers of the tropical and temperate countries. The main objective of rotation of crops is to obtain higher agricultural returns on the one hand, and to maintain the soil fertility on the other.
2. In other words, the rotation of crops helps in making agriculture more sustainable. The importance of crop rotation is more in the areas where farmers grow two, or more than two crops in the same field in a year. Irrigation facilities have also been appreciably developed in the country during the last three decades. The availability of water to the arable land has helped in the intensification of agriculture.
3. In the areas such as Punjab and Haryana, where the Green Revolution is a big success, one soil exhaustive crop (rice) is followed by another soil exhaustive crop (wheat). Subsequently, the field vacated by wheat is devoted to either rice or maize or cotton. Thus, in one year, the farmers are harvesting three soil exhaustive crops from the same field. Such a rotation of crops may fetch more income to the farmers, but depletes the soil fertility at a faster pace.

4. A number of field studies were conducted to assess the traditional crop rotation pattern. One such field study about the changes in the rotation of crops was conducted in the village Banhera (Tanda), Haridwar district. The main rotation of crops of the village is shown in the table below.

Traditional Rotation of Crops (1960-65) in Banhera (Tanda)
Year	Kharif (mid-June to mid-October)	Rabi (mid-October to mid-April)	Zaid (April to June)	No. of days land left fallow
1960	Millet/fodder/rice	Gram	Fallow	90
1961	Fallow	Wheat	Fallow	210
1962	Millet/fodder/rice	Gram	Fallow	90
1963	Fallow	Wheat	Fallow	210
1964	Millet mixed with urad/fodder/rice	Gram	Fallow	90
1965	Fallow	Wheat	Fallow	210

Answer the following questions, based on the above passage: (10)

- i. Fill in the blanks with the appropriate option from those given in brackets, based on your understanding of para 2. (1)

One of the reasons that there has been an intensification of agriculture in the country is the development of irrigation facilities is a/an _____ (fact/opinion) because it is a/an _____ (subjective judgement/objective detail).

- ii. Based on your understanding of paras 1 and 2, state whether the following statement is true or false. (1)

If proper irrigation facility is provided, higher agricultural returns can be obtained by making crop rotation more sustainable.

- iii. Justify the following in about 40 words.

Crop rotation may fetch more income to the farmers, but depletes the soil fertility at a faster pace. (2)

- iv. Based on the table, mention the years when the land was left fallow for maximum number of days. (1)
- v. The study conducted in village Banhera (Tanda) reflects that during the years 1960 to 1965, from April to June, the land was left fallow or uncultivated throughout. State any one inference that can be drawn from this. (1)
- vi. Select the option that correctly states the significance of crop rotation as given below: (1)
1. Crop rotation is done to obtain higher agricultural returns.
  2. Higher agricultural returns can be obtained by harvesting soil exhaustive crops.
  3. Crop rotation demands that land should be left fallow for a few months to increase the fertility of soil.
  4. Better irrigation facility to the arable land has helped in the intensification of agriculture.
  5. If crops to be harvested are chosen wisely, crop rotation can help in maintaining fertility of soil.
- Options:
- A. (1), (2) and (4)
  - B. (1) only
  - C. (3) and (5)
  - D. (1) and (5)
- vii. Crop rotation is helping in making agriculture more sustainable. Mention one benefit and one drawback of crop rotation. (Answer in about 40 words) (2)
- viii. Which of the following is the main takeaway from the study mentioned in the passage? (1)
- A. The study needs to include more valid data to support the practice of crop rotation.
  - B. Crop rotation is a sustainable practice that can transform the agricultural sector.
  - C. The impact of crop rotation on been thoroughly explained.

  - i. (B) Rapidly increasing production of disposable plastic products overwhelms the world's ability to deal with them.
  - ii. The tone of the writer in the given lines is appreciative and positive. They highlight the transformative impact of plastics on modern life, emphasizing its indispensable role in various innovations and life-saving applications, indicating a positive view towards the advancements enabled by plastics.
  - iii. (A) garbage and trash
(E) transformed and revolutionized
  - iv. The writer says that most of the plastic trash is found in the Earth's last sink and the reason it is transported around the world is that it gets caught up in ocean currents.
  - v. The downside of the convenience that plastic offers lies in its contribution to a throw-away culture, leading to significant environmental pollution. Single-use plastics, which account for 40 percent of annual plastic production, have very short lifespans yet can persist in the environment for hundreds of years, causing widespread damage to ecosystems and wildlife.
  - vi. According to conservationists, the two ways in which most of the deaths of animals are caused entanglement or starvation.
  - vii. (B) by minimizing the use of single-use plastics.
  - viii. One reason why plastic pollution is most visible in developing Asian and African nations is that garbage collection systems are often inefficient or nonexistent in these regions, leading to higher visibility of discarded plastics in the environment.
  - i. One of the reasons that there has been an intensification of agriculture in the country is the development of irrigation facilities is a fact because it is an objective detail.
  - ii. This statement is True.
  - iii. This statement is inaccurate. Crop rotation is a practice designed to enhance soil fertility, not deplete it. By alternating the types of crops grown on a piece of land, different nutrients are used and replenished naturally, reducing the need for chemical fertilizers and preventing the rapid depletion of soil nutrients. It helps maintain a healthy balance in the soil, leading to sustainable agriculture and potentially more income for farmers due to healthier crop yields.
  - iv. According to the table, the years when the land was left fallow for the maximum number of days are 1961, 1963, and 1965, with 210 days each of those years.

- v. One inference that can be drawn from the fact that the land in Banhera (Tanda) was left fallow from April to June during the years 1960 to 1965 is that this period, which corresponds to the Zaid cropping season, may not be suitable for cultivation due to reasons such as extreme temperatures, insufficient rainfall, or perhaps cultural practices allowing the land to recover. Leaving the land fallow during these months could help in restoring soil fertility and moisture, preparing it for the upcoming Kharif and Rabi cropping seasons.
- vi. (D) (1) and (5)
- vii. One benefit of crop rotation is that it can enhance soil health by varying plant demands on soil nutrients, thus reducing the need for chemical fertilizers. A drawback is that it requires careful planning and knowledge of crop-specific requirements, which can be complex and labour-intensive.
- viii. (B) Crop rotation is a sustainable practice that can transform the agricultural sector.

Sir,

Subject: Strict laws for cattle owners

Through your columns, I'd like to draw the attention to the menace caused by cattle on the roads. With people building palatial houses for themselves, there is little or no space left for the animals. Even those who own or domesticate cattle are least bothered to provide them with a good shelter. The result is that we find them loitering around in public places, thus hindering the traffic. All of us are well aware of the fact that traffic in this city has increased manifold and traffic jams everyday menace. When people try to drive them away, their owners who are also wandering nearby come rushing back and pick up a fight. It ends with just harsh words while at others they become physically violent and even give a punch or two. The need of the hour is that we should have a strict law to punish these people whose cattle roam on roads and create traffic problems. To sort out this problem, kindly address this issue through the esteemed columns of your daily.

Thank you.

Yours sincerely,

Sudheer.

5. The given double bar graph shows data of sales of yoga mats by two shops in duration of five months, i.e., Feb to June. The number of yoga mats sold is given in hundreds.
- Shop-1 started off on a good note with a sale of 600 yoga mats in the months of February, in the months of March it saw a hike and reached 650 in sales. Next three months were not that good in terms of sales for shop 1 as it was able to sell 500 yogamats in April and 550 in May. The month of June was the worst month as shop-1 was able to sell only 400 yogamats. Therefore we can say that the best month in terms of sale of yogamats for shop-1 is March and the worst is June.
- Shop-2 started on a bad note in comparison to Shop1 and sold only about 500 yogamats in the month of February. Next two months March and April were good for Shop-2 as it saw a hike and sold 600 yogamats in both the months. The month of May proved to be even better for shop-2 by making a sale of about 700 yogamats. The month of June was bad for shop-2 as well as it managed to sell only 400 yogamats. So, we can say that May was the best sales month for Shop-2 and June the worst.
- To conclude the given information, we can say that Shop-1 sold total 2700 yogamats and shop-2 sold 2850. The sales of Shop-2 were good comparatively and it made significant profit as well.

The table shows fluctuations in the number of gyms and gym memberships in the city over the past decade. From 2010 to 2018, there was a steady increase in both gyms and members, peaking in 2018 with 45,000 gyms and 45,000 members. This indicates a growing interest in fitness during this period. However, in 2020, there was a significant drop to 30,000 gyms and 28,000 members, likely due to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, which led to gym closures and reduced memberships. By 2022, the numbers began to recover, with 35,000 gyms and 36,000 members, reflecting a gradual return to pre-pandemic fitness activities. Overall, the data highlights the resilience of the fitness industry and the community's commitment to health and wellness, despite challenges.

iii. (a) is correct. Explanation:- Trees are an integral part of nature/forest. So it is unnatural to depict a treeless forest.
iv. A forest is a natural habitat for numerous birds and insects. When forests are cleared, no bird can make its nest, nor can insects hide in the bark of the trees and there's nothing to shade the area from sunlight.
- (ii) i. Belinda lives with her pets - kitten, mouse, dog and dragon in a little white house.

It had actually been written to turn the joke around on Mr. Keesing who could have taken it the other way also. She had written a poem referring to a father swan who bit his three ducks because they quack too much. The message was conveyed metaphorically. Had Mr. Keesing taken it the other way round, the disciplinary action could have been severe.
- (v) In the poem 'Fire and Ice' the poet considers the age-old question of whether the world will end in fire or in ice. This is similar to another age-old whether it will be preferable to freeze to death or burn to death. (ii) Dear Mr. Mandela,

I just heard from the visitors that you became the first black president fighting for freedom. I wanted to write to you to express my gratitude for your efforts in fighting for equality. I also wanted to let you know that I am still fighting for my own freedom. This news gave me hope that one day I, too, might be freed from my captivity.

I would also like to take this opportunity to ask you to help set me free. I have been living in a small cage for many years where I am constantly watched by people. I long to be free in the wild. I know that you understand what it is like to be oppressed, and I hope that you will see fit to help me in my own fight for freedom. I know that you are a busy man, but I hope that you might be able to help me.

Please, Mr. Mandela, help me to be free.

Sincerely,

The Tiger in a Zoo

11. Answer ANY ONE of the following two questions, in about 100-120 words.

(i) The Editor

Mr Jay,

It's a pleasure to write of my woes in your column. You are the best adviser to everybody's problems. You lent a patient ear to each of your guests. Now listen and be the best adviser to me.

I am into depression mode as I recently lost a diamond necklace of my best friend which I had borrowed for a party. No amount of pacifying from my husband M Loisel could bring me out of this feeling. Though I was cynosure of everybody's eyes in the party. The loss of necklace brought it all down. After losing it, I got so worried as how I will face my friend now. All through this my husband has been very supportive of me, his immense love and faith in me sailed me through this time. He did all in his capacity to get me out of it. To repay the necklace we borrowed her another necklace which has made our lives very difficult and we now live a life of penury with meager income to support us. How should I help myself to get out of this!

Mr. Jay: Well Matilda! Whatever happens, happens for the best. So put your worries across and think of your future ahead. You have suffered enough, now think of brighter side of life and learn from your mistakes. I am sure you will be out of it soon.

(ii) When Hari Singh reached the station after stealing money, he missed the train. He had no idea where to spend the night. He had no friends. The only person he knew at that place was Anil, whom he had robbed. He thought that Anil would show sadness and it would not be for the loss of money, but for the loss of trust. He knew Anil would feel bad. He roamed around aimlessly and remembered the good times he had spent with Anil. Anil taught him to read and write. Hari Singh remembered how happy he was when he learnt to write his own name for the first time. His conscience made him realise that education would add to his abilities and it could give him more than a few hundred rupees. He could lead a respectable life after getting an education. So he decided to go back to Anil out of his respect for him and his own desire to get an education and follow the path of honesty.

These qualities showed that Hari Singh was not really a bad man but the circumstances forced him to steal. His interaction with Anil had brought a positive change in his character.
